Texas Family Violence Statistics

In 2002, The Texas Council on Family Violence conducted a statewide polling on prevalence and attitudes on domestic violence. Below are some of the findings:

74% of all Texans have either themselves, a family member and/or a friend experienced some form of domestic violence.

47% of all Texans report having personally experienced at least one form of domestic violence, severe (physical or sexual), verbal and/or forced isolation from friends and family at some point in their lifetime.

31% of all Texans report that they have been severely abused (physically or sexually abused) at some point in their lifetime. Women report severe abuse at a higher rate than men.

75% of all Texans report that they would be likely to call the police if they were to experience some form of domestic violence. Yet only 20.3% indicated that they actually did call the police when they or a family member experienced domestic violence.

73% of all Texans believe that domestic violence is a serious problem in Texas.

HHSC (Formerly DHS) estimates that 924,042 Texas women were battered in 2004.
